ADDITIONAL LABEL PRINTER PRODUCTS GUIDE

These are the most commonly requested items to add to an industrial label printer purchase.

ACCESSORIES

Your printer will work just fine without a carry case, but you will appreciate one when you have several other items to carry. Things like extra tape cartridges, usb cable, spare batteries. In addition to protecting your printer investment, a carry case helps you keep your printer and supplies in one place, organized, ready to go.

The most common issue with thermal printers is foreign object damage to the delicate print heads. Printheads are electrically charged. This means they attract small objects that may stick to the printhead and consequently cause voids or dropouts. Regularly using a printhead cleaner will keep your printhead clean and save you time and money by only printing the job once and not wasting supplies.

Rechargeable batteries are available in all sizes; they provide a renewable power source. Some portable printers have built in battery chargers.

AC power adaptors are absolutely necessary for printer operation when the printer is tethered to a computer. You will save batteries and frustration when you have an extra adaptor.

VARIETY OF SUPPLIES

Having the right supply cartridge or media and ribbon is critical when you are working off site and cannot draw from inventory. An extra supply is low cost insurance to getting the job done on time and on budget. Due to the nature of many jobs, I suggest to contractors to purchase the same size in a different colour combination to ensure that when the changes come, they have the supplies on hand to fit the need.

EXTENDED WARRANTY

As a distributor of portable and desktop printers for over 20 years, we have not seen the reason to offer extended warranties. Modern printers are better than ever. Even a $49.99 portable printer has a one year warranty. Some brands offer a lifetime warranty. In our experience, most printers just don't fail.

If a warranty is claimed and accepted by the manufacturer, a new printer is typically issued.

Additional label printer products fall under the listing, "Nice to have, but not always necessary." However, our customers often comment how happy they were to have that one extra tape, cable, cleaner or... to finish the job quickly and efficiently.
